

Wildfire & Watershed Synthesis Workshop

SAVE THE DATE

October 2 - 3, 2024

The University of New Mexico,
Albuquerque, NM

The Transformation Network invites students, faculty, staff, and community partners to join us for a two-day Wildfire & Watershed synthesis workshop.

Costs of travel and lodging will be covered for Transformation Network faculty, staff, and students.

Travel support may also be provided for Community Partners. Please contact Rachel Landman at rlandman@unm.edu for more details.

RSVP

To help us secure spaces and plan meals, please RSVP by May 1, 2024 by filling out this form.

DAY ONE

This day will be devoted to in-person discussions to advance new synthesis paper(s) related to post-wildfire restoration needs in the Intermountain Western US. Stay tuned for invites and more information to get involved in these paper(s) from Kelly Jones, Camille Stevens-Rumann, and maybe others, in the coming weeks. If you aren't participating in these papers, but still want to participate in the TN in-person event you can skip this day and join us on Oct. 3. The day will end with a keynote speaker.

DAY TWO

This day will be for any TN member or partner interested in wildfire and watersheds in the Intermountain West. It will include a series of lightning talks on TN-funded research (possibly from you if you attend!), a session on StoryMapping to synthesize TN activities, and a session on grant opportunities to brainstorm how to keep the TN activities going. If you are involved in any of the synthesis paper(s) on Oct. 2, definitely plan to attend this day as well!

